From: Laura Ashcraft, WiderNet Project
Subject: Open Content Notification Letter - WiderNet Project thanks you!

The WiderNet Project will be distributing your open content resource "Informed Health Choices", published at <http://www.informedhealthchoices.org/> via the eGranary Digital Library to serve people lacking Internet access.

We are writing to thank you and to inform you about your content's usage in the eGranary. Please let us tell you about WiderNet and the eGranary Digital Library.

The WiderNet Project is a non-profit organization affiliated with the University of North Carolina - Chapel Hill that promotes low-cost information and communication for underserved populations. You can find more information about the WiderNet Project at <http://widernet.org/>.

Often, teachers, students, and practitioners must pay per minute while online and it literally takes days to search a Web site. The eGranary Digital Library delivers digital information directly to Web servers inside the institution acting as an intranet, thus bypassing the problem. With the eGranary Digital Library, thousands of people can access the information over their local area networks quickly and at no cost.

Thank you for making your content open for public use. It is open content like yours that allows for others to have access to information where they otherwise would not.

Sincerely,

Laura Ashcraft, MSIS
